DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 15-27, 42-54, and 69-81 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected group, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on November 9, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-10, 12-14, 28-37, 39-41, 55-64, and 66-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable by Zigmond et al (US 6,400,407).

[claims 1, 28, & 55]

In regard to Claims 1, 28, and 55 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus for frame specific tagging of television audio and video broadcast streams with tag translation at a receiver, comprising the steps of:

- providing a storage device on said receiver (Figure 2 shows a storage device that is present on the receiver);

- inserting tags into said broadcast stream (Figure 4 discloses the inserting of tags that is sent through the broadcast stream);
- tuning said receiver to said broadcast stream (Column 2 Lines 40-51 describes the tuning of the receiver to receive the broadcast stream);
- storing said broadcast stream on said storage device (Figure 3 shows the storages system and furthermore disclosed in Column 6 Lines 11-25);
- detecting and processing said tags in said broadcast stream (Column 6 Lines 1-25 discloses the detecting and processing of tags into the broadcast stream);
- displaying program material in said broadcast stream from said storage device to a viewer (Column 5 Lines 64-67 describes the displaying of the program material);
- wherein said processing step performs the appropriate actions in response to said tags (Column 6 Lines 42-62 describes the processing step that performs appropriate actions); and
- wherein said tags include command and control information (Column 6 Lines 42-62 describes that tags include command and control information).

[claims 2, 29, & 56]

In regard to Claims 2, 29, and 56 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus wherein tags indicate the start and end points of a program segment (Column 6 Lines 59-61 describes the start and end times that are included in the tags).

[claims 3, 30, & 57]

In regard to Claims 3, 30, 57, Zigmond et al discloses process and apparatus wherein said displaying step skips over said program segment in response to the viewer pressing a button on a remote input device (Column 5 Lines 19-27 describes the displaying step that skips over the program segment in response from the user via the remote).

[claims 4, 31, & 58]

In regard to Claims 4, 31, and 58, Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus having a displaying step automatically skips said program segment (Column 9 Lines 35-63 describes the step of automatically skipping the program segment).

[claims 5, 32, & 59]

In regard to Claims 5, 32, and 59 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus processing step displays a menu to the viewer based on information included in a tag (Column 5 Lines 25-27 describes the menu that is displayed to the user regarding tagged information).

[claims 6, 33, & 60]

In regard to Claims 6, 33, and 60, Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus wherein the processing step records the current program in the broadcast stream on said storage device based on information included in a tag (Column 9 Lines 35-63 describes the processing step that records the current program in the broadcast stream on the storage device based on the information included in the tag).

[claims 7, 34, & 61]

In regard to Claims 7, 34, and 61 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus wherein the processing step further comprising the steps of:

- displaying, allowing the viewer to scroll, and performing an action associated with the multiple icons (Column 9 Lines 9-33 describes the multiple icons that are accessible to the viewer);
- accepting viewer input information and selecting a particular icon based on the viewer's input (Column 5 Lines 19-27 describes the viewer accepting the input information and selecting a an icon based on the viewers input).

[claims 8, 35, & 62]

In regard to Claims 8, Zigmond et al discloses the process and apparatus comprising the steps of:

- wherein said processing step displays an icon to the viewer based on information included in a tag (Column 9 Lines 9-33 describes the process of displaying an icon to the viewer based on information included in the tag);
- accepting viewer input information and interacting with the viewer based on the tag information (Column 5 Lines 19-41 describes the accepting of the input information and interacting with the tag information);
- wherein said displaying step saves the exit point in the program material (Column 9 Lines 9-61 describes the display steps that saves the exit point of the program material); and

Art Unit: 2616

- wherein the viewer is returned to said exit point upon completion of any interaction (Column 9 Lines 9-61 additional describes the return to the program material).

[claims 9, 10, 36, 37, 63, & 64]

In regard to Claims 9, 10, 36, 37, 63, and 64 Zigmond et al discloses the process and apparatus further comprising the steps of:

- presenting a plurality of menus to the viewer for generating a lead (Figure 9 Lines 9-32 describes the presenting of plurality of menus to viewers for generating a lead on advertisements); and
- forwarding the viewer's contact information to a third party upon viewer approval (Figure 1 shows the bi-directional communication that happens from the server unit to the user which forwards appropriate information and furthermore is described in Column 4 Lines 49-65).

[claims 12, 39, & 66]

In regard to Claims 12, 39, and 66 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus further comprising the steps of:

- presenting the content of a Web site's Web Page to the viewer in response to the viewer's input wherein the viewer is allowed to interact with the web site (Column 7 Lines 40+ describes the presenting of web site information to the viewer).

[claims 13, 40, & 67]

Art Unit: 2616

In regard to Claims 13, 40 and 67 Zigmond et al discloses a process and apparatus wherein said tags allow a system administrator to remotely configure said receiver (Figure 1 shows the bi-directional communication allowing a system administrator to remotely configure and receive content through the receiver.)

[claims 14, 41, & 68]

In regard to Claims 14, 41, and 68 Zigmond et al discloses the process and apparatus further comprising the steps of:

- marking indexes in said program material based on tag information and jumping to an index selected by the viewer (Column 8 Lines 37-64 describes the marking of indexes of the program material based on tag information and jumping to an index selection by the viewer).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11, 38, and 65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zigmond et al (US 6,400,407) in view of Dunn et al (US 5,648,824).

[claims 11, 38, & 65]

In regard to Claims 11, 38 and 65, Zigmond et al discloses the process and apparatus for frame specific tagging of television audio and video broadcast streams with tag translation; however, fails to disclose the presenting a set of program recording options to the viewer; and scheduling the viewer's recording preferences.

Dunn et al discloses a system that has user interface allowing video controlling through options such as playback, record, fast forward, etc. It is seen in Figure 3 the user views information regarding the program and thereby schedules the recording preferences as further described in Column 5 Lines 27-65. Thereby allowing the user to choose various programming options when setting a recording schedule which allows for more accurate recording schedules. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use a system of tagging broadcast streams, as disclosed by Zigmond et al, and further incorporate a system which provides user the information regarding recording of the programs, as disclosed by Dunn et al.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
